3. What are the key risks that are specific to the issuer?

Risks related to the Issuer's financial situation:

Risks in connection with a possible insolvency of the Issuer: The Noteholders assume the credit risk of the Issuer. In the case of an insolvency of the Issuer, the Issuer may not be in a position to pay its debts as they fall due, including the amounts due on the Notes. As a result, the Noteholders may lose part or all of their claims to repayment of their invested capital.

Risks in connection with refinancings: The Issuer may seek new refinancing for the repayment of the Notes, if necessary by issuing new Notes. If such refinancing required for repayment is not available – for whatever reason – the Issuer may not be in a position to repay the Notes. If this risk should materialize, the Noteholders may lose part or all of their claims to repayment of their invested capital.

Risks in connection with credit risks: Noteholders are subject to the risk of partial or total inability of the Issuer to make distribution and/or redemption payments that the Issuer may be obliged to make under the Notes. The worse the creditworthiness of the Issuer, the higher the risk of loss. Prospective investors should note that a materialisation of credit risk with respect to the Issuer may result in the inability of the Issuer to pay interest and/or principal under the Notes.

Risks in connection with costs related to the Issuer in connection with financing activities: The financing activities of the Issuer are connected with certain costs, such as but not limited to for marketing and distribution of its financing instruments like Notes and others, commissions or other similar fees charged by the Issuer's distribution agents, service providers and others to the Issuer. Those costs reduce the net issue proceeds of the Issuer derived from the issuing of financial instruments such as Notes. Prospective investors should note that these costs may significantly reduce or eliminate any net profits that the Issuer may realize from its business activities in one or more business year and furthermore may result in a financial loss for a business year. This may have a negative impact on the Issuer's ability in payment of interests and repayment of the Notes.

Risks in connection with investments in financial instruments: The Issuer may apply part of the proceeds received from the sale of the Notes to invest in balance sheets assets such as financial instruments, including, without limitation, shares, notes, securitised debt instruments, money market instruments and units in collective investment schemes. Such investments will be subject to normal market fluctuations and the risks inherent in all investments, including the risk that the Issuer may not realise all or part of the capital invested. In the event that the financial instruments selected for investment by the Issuer lose part or all of their value, the Issuer may be forced to make write-downs (resulting in a loss in the income and loss statement). Losses not covered by corresponding gains may affect the Issuer's ability to service interest on the Notes and to repay principal.

Risks related to the Issuer's business activities and industry:

Risks in connection with the Issuer's business: The core business of the Issuer consists of acting as (sub-) arranger in respect of the issuance of certain Notes (or other financial instruments). Notwithstanding the fact that the Issuer receives a customary remuneration for the services rendered as a (sub-) arranger, it cannot be ruled that the fees and income generated are sufficient to cover all and any payment obligations as stipulated under the Notes.

Risks in connection with security granted for certain issuers: The Issuer may – in the capacity as "guarantor" – guarantee the repayment obligations of certain issuers of notes (or other debt instruments) in respect of the aggregate principal amount these notes (or other debt instruments) and, correspondingly, grant security interests over its assets to one or more banks in order to procure that such banks guarantee the repayment obligations of a an issuer covered by a guarantee issued by the Issuer. In the event that a respective covered issuer defaults on its applicable payment obligations under the notes which have been guaranteed and/or secured in the instances prescribed above, this may impact the ability of the Issuer to service interest on the Notes and to repay principal.

KEY INFORMATION ON THE SECURITIES

1. What are the main features of the securities?

a. Type, class and ISIN

The Notes are unsecured fixed rate notes. The Notes are issued in registered form.

International Securities Identification Number: (International Securities Identification Number (ISIN)) MT0002041227.

Other securities identification number: not applicable.

b. Currency, denomination, par value, the number of securities issued and the term of the securities

The Notes are issued in "Euro" and the denomination of each Note is EUR 1,000. The total number of Notes to be issued is up to 3,000 (this corresponds to an aggregate principal amount of up to EUR 3,000,000). The maturity date of the Notes is 15 April 2025 (the Maturity Date).

c. Rights attached to the securities
Based on terms and conditions of the Notes (the Terms and Conditions) the following rights are attached to the Notes:
Interest payment: Holders of Notes (the Noteholders) are entitled to distributions (interest). Thus, the Notes will bear interest from and including 02 June 2022 to, but excluding, the Maturity Date at a rate of 3.50 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually (in arrears) on 15 April and 15 October in each year, commencing on 15 October 2022.
Redemption at maturity: Unless previously redeemed, or cancelled, the Notes will be redeemed at their principal amount (which is EUR 1,000 per Note) on the Maturity Date.
Early redemption in an event of default: The Terms and Conditions provide for events of default entitling each Noteholder to demand immediate redemption of its Notes at the early redemption amount (which is 100 per cent. of the principal amount) together with accrued interest to the date of repayment.
Early redemption for taxation reasons: Early redemption of the Notes for reasons of taxation will be permitted, if as a result of any change in, or amendment to, the laws or regulations (including any amendment to, or change in, an official interpretation or application of such laws or regulations) of Malta or any political subdivision or taxing authority thereto or therein affecting taxation or the obligation to pay duties of any kind, the Issuer will become obligated to pay additional amounts on the Notes, as more described in the Terms and Conditions.
d. Relative seniority of the securities in the issuer's capital structure in the event of insolvency
The obligations under the Notes constitute unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer ranking pari passu among themselves and pari passu with all other unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer, unless such obligations are accorded priority under mandatory provisions of statutory law.
e. Restrictions on the free transferability of the securities
In general, the Notes are freely transferable and title to the Notes passes on by registration (inscription) in the relevant register. However, no Noteholder may require the transfer of a Note to be registered (i) after an event of default notice has been issued pursuant to Clause 8(b) of the Terms and Conditions or (ii) during the period of 15 calendar days ending on the due date for any payment in respect of that Note.
2. Where will the securities be traded?
The Notes will not be traded on a regulated market. However, the Notes may be included to trading on the Vienna MTF of the Vienna Stock Exchange or any other MTF market.
3. What are the key risks that are specific to the securities?
Risks relating to the Notes in general:
Market Price Risk and Credit Spread Risks: The market prices of the Notes depends on various factors, such as changes of interest rate levels, the policy of central banks, overall economic developments, inflation rates or the supply and demand for the relevant type of Notes. The market price of the Notes may also be negatively affected by an increase in the Issuer's credit spreads, i.e. the difference between yields on the Issuer's debt and the yield of government notes or swap rates of similar maturity. The Issuer's credit spreads are mainly based on its perceived creditworthiness but also influenced by other factors such as general market trends as well as supply and demand for such Notes.
Exchange rate risks: The Issuer will pay principal and interest (distributions) on the Notes in the relevant specified currency as specified in the Terms and Conditions. This presents certain risks relating to currency conversion if an investor's financial activities are denominated principally in a currency or currency unit other than the relevant specified currency.
Risk of additional or increasing debt in the future: There is no restriction on the amount of debt that the Issuer may borrow on an equal footing or with priority with the Notes. Any assumption of additional liabilities by the Issuer which are not subordinated to the Notes increases the debt of the Issuer and may reduce the amount that the Noteholders will receive on their claims in the event of the liquidation or insolvency of the Issuer.

Risk of changes in interest rates: An investment in the Notes involves the risk that subsequent changes in market interest rates may adversely affect the value of the Notes.

Risk of loan-financed investments: A potential investor that finances its investment in the Notes via a loan should not rely on the fact that the income generated by an investment in the Notes will suffice to repay the loan itself and the interest thereon. In the case of a loss of the investment (i.e. a (partial) non-payment with respect to interest and especially to principal), the investor would still have to repay the loan and the interest thereon. Hence, the financial outcome of a loan-financed investment in the Notes would be even more adversely compared to an investment not being financed via lent money.
